

Bourse Olympe de Gouges Toulouse Summer 2019 Program Application

Program Description

The French program is seeking ways to expand the transformative experiences of its students in order to complement their professional preparation and is offering an opportunity to volunteer in Toulouse, France for at least one month in the Summer of 2019 for the Croix-Rouge (Red Cross) or Les Restos du Cœur. This program will be conducted as a one-credit summer internship course; all required institutional fees will apply.

Bourse Olympe de Gouges

Olympe de Gouges was a French playwright and social activist in the 18th century. Though seen as a radical force during the French Revolution, she wrote the Declaration of Women's Rights (1791), wanted a more equal society, for women, and fought for more assistance for the needy.

The Bourse Olympe de Gouges is a $2500 scholarship that will be given to the student chosen for this program to help pay for enrollment fees, plane tickets, housing, and any other program costs.

The student who is selected for this program must be a French major and have advanced French skills (B1) or above. Those who have received certification through the Paris Chamber of Commerce or have taken courses in French for the Professions or are involved in any other community work will be given priority. The Applicants must be willing to be challenged linguistically and be enthusiastic about improving the welfare of humanity through volunteer work.

How to Apply

- Provide a Curriculum Vitae (CV) and a cover letter, both written in French, describing how this experience will contribute to your transformative experience at Truman.
- 1-2 page essay (single-spaced) in French about previous community and other service work that you have completed, how this has contributed to your formation as a student, and how the experience in Toulouse will transform you further.

Please send applications electronically to Dr. Audrey Viguier at aviguier@truman.edu. Please make the email subject: Last name / Toulouse 2019 Application
